

one of the quickest, cleanest and most businesslike revolutions of modern times.

It is necessary to point out that it is by no means certain that the revolt is a permanent success. The provinces are more loyal than Lisbon, and they have not yet been heard from. The same doubt exists as to the attitude of the regiments in the provinces.

LOYAL TROOPS ON THE MARCH.
It is stated from Madrid that some at least of the provincial garrisons, including that of Oporto, are marching to Lisbon to support the monarchy. The only provincial center where the insurgent movement is reported to be active is Oporto, and the accounts of the situation there are contradictory. One declares that fighting occurred there similar to that in the capital, while another says that order was not broken.

It seems that the struggle in Lisbon was finally decided by the wholesale desertion of royalist soldiers to the revolutionaries. If this is correct it may well foreshadow the ultimate course of any provincial troops still adhering to the monarchy.

Even if a republic is permanently established it will be no guarantee of peace and prosperity. Portugal has not been the victim of kingcraft but of general corruption, speculation and malediction. If the republicans have the will and power to purge Portuguese institutions, replace the existing spoils system by a genuine representative government and establish clean finances they may regenerate the country and bring it out of the slough of poverty and backwardness in which it is weltering. But there is no present assurance that a weak republic will be able to do this. The place of the weak, unstable monarchy is not yet filled.

BRITISH MINISTER'S REPORT.
The Portuguese Legation here is still without any direct news from Lisbon. The British Foreign Office has received the following despatch from the British Minister at Lisbon dated today:

"A serious disturbance broke out on Monday night when some troops of the garrison declared themselves Republican. This morning troops which were hitherto loyal went over and a republic has been proclaimed.

"Great excitement prevails and the proclamation has been enthusiastically received by the people. It is believed that a provisional Government is being formed.

"The King is said to be at Mafra. The Queen and the Prince Royal (probably her brother-in-law, the Infante Alfonso) were yesterday at Cascaes, but I have no precise news."

Mafra is a place about eighteen miles northwest of Lisbon.

NEWS VIA MADRID.
The first detailed news from Lisbon was contained in a despatch from Madrid received this evening. This says that the King (amlejas), the Spanish Premier, received a number of journalists this afternoon and informed them that immediately on the receipt of the news that fighting was going on in Lisbon the Spanish Government despatched an officer by automobile to the frontier for news.

Ships are also being used for the same purpose. The Spanish Minister at Lisbon sent a military attaché to the frontier for the purpose of telegraphing news to his Government at Madrid.

Premier Canalejas said it was known that two regiments of infantry and one regiment of artillery had revolted and fought desperately last evening. The fighting continued today. The Portuguese Government considered it for the best that the King should leave the palace.

As King Manuel was leaving the palace the Spanish Minister approached him. The King remarked that he did not mean to keep many persons about him. The King was said to have gone to Cintra, where he found his mother, Queen Amalia. Both were calm.

Premier Canalejas concluded by stating that the greater part of the Portuguese fleet rebelled, but nothing happened at Oporto.

CONTRADICTION STORIES.
Further news received by the Government is contradictory. One story is that a single loyal regiment of artillery is fighting three rebel regiments. Eight thousand armed peasants have entered Lisbon, according to this report.

There are numerous conflicting rumors as to the movements of King Manuel. According to early reports he was taken aboard the Brazilian ship Sao Paulo, while other accounts said he was still ashore.

A despatch from Madrid to the Exchange Telegraph Company says it is officially announced at the Spanish capital that the King has embarked on a British ship.

There were rumors also that he had taken refuge in one or another of the foreign legations.

A despatch from Paris says news has been received there that sanguinary encounters are taking place in the streets of Lisbon and that the bombardment of the palace continues.

The Central News says it learns from an authoritative source that the harbor of Lisbon has been closed to all comers by the revolutionaries, whose warships are guarding the entrance and are even preventing foreign ships from putting to sea.

The Foreign Office has received a wireless message through the Admiralty, however, announcing the arrival of the cruiser Neocastell at Lisbon.

Italy and Spain despatched warships to Lisbon on receipt of the first news of the trouble. The report that 8,000 armed peasants have entered Lisbon is repeated from another source. It is also said that the Republican flag of blue and green is not flying over the harbor, but only on the war vessels in the harbor.

LISBON FALLEN.
A Brazilian merchant in London who has an extensive trade with Lisbon has received the following cable message from Cintra, fourteen miles northwest of the Portuguese capital:

"Lisbon fallen. Now completely in the hands of Republicans. King Manuel escaped on a Portuguese torpedo boat."

The Berlin Telegraph states that information received by various Hamburg firms is to the effect that all traffic on the Portuguese railways and at the various ports stopped at noon yesterday.

It is regarded as significant that Paris was a steady seller of Portuguese bonds yesterday, and as a result they declined one-half. This morning in the Capital Market the bonds were practically nominal at 65%, with no buyers. One of the first effects in London was that consols fell 1/2.

Cable communication between Lisbon and St. Michael's, the Azores, is broken.

THE NEWS IN PARIS.
PARIS, Oct. 5.—The Brazilian Legation here reports that King Manuel of Portugal has taken refuge on the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo. The last previous report was that he was a prisoner in the palace.

President-elect Hermes da Fonseca of Brazil went from Cherbourg to Lisbon a week or so ago on the new battleship Sao Paulo in order to pay his respects to King Manuel before he returned home.

M. Pichon, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, received confirmation of the revolution in Portugal. His telegram says that at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon King Manuel was still in the palace holding out against the insurgents.

The house was excited to-day over the uprising in Portugal. Portuguese Government stock fell 4 points and Spanish Government 3. The latter recovered 1 point by the close.

ANXIETY IN ROME.

Rome, Oct. 5.—Anxiety is felt here for the safety of the Italian King, King Victor Emmanuel, the Queen Dowager of Portugal, grandmother of King Manuel.

The Vatican fears the effect which the revolution in Portugal will have in Spain. Neither the Foreign Office nor the Vatican has received any news from Lisbon. A cruiser squadron is likely to be sent thither to protect Italian subjects, including the Italian Minister, Count de Saldanha.

The Pope was saddened by the news of the Portuguese uprising. He wept when informed of the revolution and prayed God to spare the lives of the royal family. He wired to King Manuel through the medium of the Papal Nuncio at Madrid, whom he instructed to strive to deliver the monarchy from its present peril.

The Pope sent his blessing to the King and gave him assurances that he would not support a republic. The Pontiff expressed the hope that the Roman Catholic clergy would remain faithful to the monarchy.

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 5.—The British cruiser Neocastell started for Lisbon at full speed last night. The cruiser Minerva started for the same place to-day.

NO SURPRISE IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The downfall of the Portuguese Government causes no surprise in official circles in Washington, as rumors of the revolutionary movement have been received here frequently during the last few months. Neither the State Department nor the Portuguese Legation has yet received any official information regarding the deposition of the King.

As soon as official notification of the establishment of a republic has been received at the State Department from the Portuguese Legation at Lisbon, it is likely that a message of congratulation will be sent to Lisbon.

The question of formally recognizing the new Government will not be considered by officers of the State Department until the new regime has demonstrated its stability and is competent to enter into international obligations. It is likely that Secretary Knox will delay recognizing the new Government until the European countries which have greater interest in Portugal have taken action.

The United States has little interest in the internal affairs of Portugal and it is not believed here that it will be necessary to send naval vessels to Portuguese waters. The belief prevails that the lives of the Portuguese people will not be jeopardized by the revolution. The cruiser Des Moines and the gunboat Scorpion are in the harbor of Lisbon. The Des Moines is at Gibraltar and the Scorpion has arrived at Naples. No orders were sent, however, to either of these vessels to-day to proceed to Portuguese waters.

Viscount de Alva, the Portuguese Minister, said to-day that he had no information regarding the revolution. He declined to make any comment on the situation.

THE BOMBARDMENT PALACE.

Built in 1743. Rests on the site of a Convent. Had Bare Art Works.

The Portuguese royal palace that was bombarded by John V. It is known as the Palacio Real das Necessidades and was built in 1743 over the remains of the convent of Nossa Senhora das Necessidades, which had been named from the saint whose wonder-working miracle was called upon in times of stress. The palace and the park which lay in rich beauty about it were closed customarily to the public.

Formerly there were countless treasures of art kept there, but gradually they were transferred to the National Museum. Holben the elder's "Portrait of Life" still remains, however, as also a fine triptych by Hieronymus Bosch and some pictures by Hieronymus Bosch. The statues of Santa Philip Neri and Francis on the facade of the palace chapel are well known and were done to taste, an Italian sculptor to the public.

CHINA WOULD BE THE PRIZE.

Japan Warns Peking Against Provoking War. No Boxer Peril Now.

TOKYO, Oct. 5.—The Japan Times has a long editorial to-day on a special telegram to the Korean which said that of himself War Minister and Viceroy Hsi Liang reported at the command of the Prince Regent last Friday that one eastern province was practically Japanese territory and that two others were threatened. The report urged that "in addition to fortifying and organizing a new army it was indispensable that China should avail herself of America's chivalrous offer of loans with which to promote railway and colonial policies."

The Times regards this as a definite disclosure of the Peking Government's policy of seeking to align America, Germany and China against England, Russia and Japan. The paper warns the Chinese Government against precipitating a conflict in which China would inevitably be the prize.

Japanese opinion, which has hitherto been exceptionally correct in regard to affairs in China, wholly discredits the danger of another uprising there similar to the Boxer outbreak in 1900.

ARMY BUILDING UNSTAINED

MIXED THESE CORNERS UP, DID MR. MITCHELL'S MAN.

Four Mistakes Played Three Horses to Win Whist and Missed a One to Three Shot at the Night Corner. More Apology Results and No Pinching.

Despite the charges submitted to Police Commissioner Baker by John Purroy Mitchell that the Army Building at Whitehall and Pearl streets and the United States Appraiser's Stores at 100 Morton street were running wide open games neither of these well known resorts was pulled yesterday. Lookouts disguised as elevator starters, office boys (usually of tender years) and in some cases made up as telephone girls kept a sharp watch for intruders, however.

As a result of this watchfulness even well known gamblers could not get into the inner rooms said to be the private offices of Lieut. Col. Zalinski, Deputy Quartermaster, U. S. A., in the Army Building, or of United States Appraiser George Wannaker as long as the Appraiser's Stores without first handing a card to the disguised lookouts.

One difficulty that will confront Mr. Mitchell and Commissioner Baker the minute they start in together to wipe out these two resorts is that the municipal police have no power to pinch either the Deputy Quartermaster or the United States Appraiser as long as the officials remain upon the Federal properties which were charged with running wide open, although there are telephones in both places and numbers of men have been seen to enter or leave the buildings while races were being run in South America and Mexico.

Mr. Mitchell admitted yesterday in a letter of apology addressed to Lieut. Col. Zalinski that so far neither Mr. Mitchell nor his colleague Commissioner Baker has the goods on the Army Building or the Appraiser's Stores, although the letter repeats that charges of gambling have been made against the Army Building neighborhood. The letter says that Examining Inspector Ames picked three horses to win at Montreal and placed the bets in what was described on his list as "the poolroom at the southeast corner of Whitehall and Pearl streets."

Now since Mayor Gaynor's letter of apology to Lieut. Col. Zalinski, Inspector Ames has admitted to Mr. Mitchell that these are not his mistakes, but that three horses lost, that's three mistakes, and he meant the southwest corner, that's four.

Friends of the inspector pointed out yesterday that this mistake readily can be understood by looking at the map. The intersection of Whitehall and Pearl streets is confusion, say the inspector's friends, is not only possible but probable, because the southeast corner of the southwest corner are so close to each other that they are separated only by the width of narrow Whitehall street. In fact if one of the corners was moved the width of the street the corners would coincide, because the southwest corner would be coming directly upon the southeast corner.

To make matters worse two other corners about the intersection of the two streets were named by the inspector as the east corner and the other as the northwest corner. In several cases known to the police, the southeast corner of the southwest corner have got the southeast corner confused with the southwest corner and have been compelled to retract the statements.

Mr. Mitchell explains in his letter that the complaint about gambling at 100 Morton street, which is the Appraiser's Stores, remained away from both the Army Building and the Appraiser's Stores yesterday. Jack Adler and Humming Bird Teller are said to have abetted the Army Building early in the afternoon, but as they were unfortunate enough to select just the moment that a cop was on the beat they passed by as if they had no intention of entering the building.

Despite Lieut. Col. Zalinski's outward show of calm yesterday there have been times of late, it is alleged, when he has worn a uniform in order to lessen the suspicion that he is connected in any way with the suspected place. Yesterday Lieut. Col. Zalinski was disguised as a civilian.

When a reporter broke into the building and rang the elevator bell a crowd of men were found inside. The men were in sight wherever one looked. Three doors had to be gone through before one came upon Lieut. Col. Zalinski, a number of men in the room where he was found immediately began to busy themselves at what appeared to be office desks. Suspicious men arose from one corner where one of the men found in the place had lighted a bundle of papers or something, placing one end of the roll in his mouth then as if to give out the impression that the cigar wrapping on the outside of the bundle contained regular tobacco.

"I'll bet anything that that blonde fellow Tommy was trotting with out on the west coast," began one of the men as the door was opened, but he was wise enough to go no further about his bet and the trotting fellow in the presence of the investigator. No gambling paraphernalia could be seen in the room, but Lieut. Col. Zalinski had buttoned his coat. It can be stated authoritatively that in the Appraiser's Stores are many mysterious objects which even Appraiser George Wannaker does not know.

Westchester Assembly Nominations.
WHITE PLAINS, Oct. 5.—Assemblyman J. Ambrose Goodwin was renominated to-day at the Republican convention of the Fourth district. The Democrats nominated Oscar Le Roy Warren of White Plains.

Assemblyman Frank L. Young was renominated by the Republicans of the Third district.

State Senator Hubbs Renominated.
RIVERHEAD, L. I., Oct. 5.—The Republican convention of the First Senatorial district this afternoon renominated Orlando Hubbs of Central Islip. Assemblyman Lupton was a candidate, but although he was said to be favored by Col. Roosevelt, he failed to get the support of the Nassau county delegates. Eight Suffolk county delegates voted for Lupton, and Hubbs got the votes of the eleven Nassau county men and four Suffolk county delegates.

Butler Ames Renominated by Assemblymen.
LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 5.—Congressman Butler Ames was renominated by acclamation in the Fifth district Republican Congress convention here to-day. He wants to go to the Senate in place of Senator Lodge. In his address of acceptance he declared that Speaker Cannon would be Speaker of the next House. That announcement was greeted with cheers.

Wannaker does not deny are questionable. The keepers of both this place and the Army Building asserted almost defiantly last night that police cannot close their places, but friends of Mr. Mitchell, who know the strength of a great city aroused, spoke with a note of confidence when asked: "How long will New York stand for these things?"

AGUIERA TO REST IN CUBA.

Remains of Emancipator and Hero of Ten Years War Reach Havana.

HAVANA, Oct. 5.—The remains of Gen. Francisco Aguilera, the hero of the ten years war in Cuba, who died in 1877 and was buried in New York, arrived here to-day from Tampa on the Cuban revenue cutter, Yara. They were received with the highest honors.

They will be in state in the City Hall until to-morrow, when President Gomez and other high officials and dignitaries will accompany them to the train on which they will be conveyed to Bayamo, Gen. Aguilera's old home.

It was Gen. Aguilera's dying request that he should be buried in New York until Cuba should be free, when his body should be transferred to Cuba for final interment. While he was President of the Cuban Republic in 1888 he decreed freedom to all the slaves in the island.

FOR NON-PARTISAN JUDICIARY.

Movement in Kings to Have Democrats Follow Republican Action.

A citizens' committee of 100 has been formed in the Second Judicial district to bring about the reorganization by both parties of Justices Garretson, Maddox and Putnam. The Democratic judiciary convention will meet to-day and the committee has been busy trying to get the Democrats to follow the action of the Republicans in coming out for a non-partisan judiciary.

The citizens' committee is made up of some of the leading men of Brooklyn, members of both parties and is headed by Henry Batterman. The committee is circulating a resolution it has adopted calling for a non-political judiciary and urging the voters of the Second Judicial district to work for the nomination and election of the three Justices, whose terms expire this year. E. Mayor Schieren, Willis L. Ogden, Dick S. Ramsay, Gen. Horatio C. King, A. A. Raven, courtland W. Anable and Marion J. Verley are among those on the committee.

The Democratic executive committee held a conference last evening at the home of Jefferson headquarters in the course of the judiciary convention to be held at noon to-day. No direct action was taken in regard to the slate, although the course of the judiciary convention of hours and strong arguments made both for and against the non-partisan policy. At the close of the conference Lieut. H. McQuay's secretary, a lawyer, said that it would have to be thrashed out at the convention.

There are more than a dozen Democrats in the judiciary convention, in keen rivalry for a place on the judiciary ticket and each of them will have his backers on hand to-day at the convention.

OSBORNE'S TRIBUTE TO DIX.

Says He Accepted the Nomination for Governor Only as a Public Duty.

AT BUREN, Oct. 5.—Thomas M. Osborne, speaking at the Democratic Senate convention for the Fortieth district, held in this city to-day, referred to the Rochester convention as follows:

"I want to say a few words about Mr. Dix and his part in the State convention. Throughout all the trying days of the Rochester convention he bore himself as a man of honor, his sole purpose being to win the party success by a proper selection of candidates. I think I may say without committing an indiscretion that Mr. Dix came to me and to other close friends for advice before accepting the nomination, and when he accepted it he did so only in the single minded response to duty. When the first mention was made of Mr. Dix as a possibility for Governor he was sorely troubled and said that he would not consider it. He has already been charged by irresponsible newspapers with trying to make himself the nominee, but nothing could be further from the truth. He did all in his power to avoid the nomination and he accepted it only as a public duty, a duty which I think every friend with whom he talked assured him was up to him."

The convention nominated Jasper N. Hammond of Seneca Falls for State Senator. The district comprises Cayuga, Cortland and Seneca counties.

TO RUN AGAINST DWIGHT.

Democrats Name Dr. Ira A. Hix of Binghamton for Congress.

ITHACA, Oct. 5.—The Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for Congress for the Thirtieth district to succeed John W. Dwight, ship of the House, was held at the Clinton House this evening to-day and Dr. Ira A. Hix of Binghamton was unanimously chosen to make the race. Harmony prevailed and factional differences were buried, the leaders said. Although the district, which is composed of Broome, Cortland, Chenango, Tioga and Tompkins counties, is ordinarily Republican by 10,000 votes, the Democrats are planning a vigorous campaign using the tariff, the Conger incident and the "John and I" telegram as issues against Mr. Dwight.

The convention for the Fortieth Senate district adjourned until Friday at Elmira.

Fitzpatrick Won't Accept Democratic Chairmanship.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Democratic County Chairman W. H. Fitzpatrick of Erie county, who was talked for Democratic State chairman to succeed John A. Dix, issued a formal statement here to-day that he is not a candidate for the State chairmanship and could not accept the place if it was offered to him. Mr. Fitzpatrick says:

"I believe either George E. Vankennan of St. Lawrence or Thomas W. Funnace of Monroe would make an admirable chairman; yet I have no personal choice."

Westchester Assembly Nominations.
WHITE PLAINS, Oct. 5.—Assemblyman J. Ambrose Goodwin was renominated to-day at the Republican convention of the Fourth district. The Democrats nominated Oscar Le Roy Warren of White Plains.

Assemblyman Frank L. Young was renominated by the Republicans of the Third district.

State Senator Hubbs Renominated.
RIVERHEAD, L. I., Oct. 5.—The Republican convention of the First Senatorial district this afternoon renominated Orlando Hubbs of Central Islip. Assemblyman Lupton was a candidate, but although he was said to be favored by Col. Roosevelt, he failed to get the support of the Nassau county delegates. Eight Suffolk county delegates voted for Lupton, and Hubbs got the votes of the eleven Nassau county men and four Suffolk county delegates.

Butler Ames Renominated by Assemblymen.
LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 5.—Congressman Butler Ames was renominated by acclamation in the Fifth district Republican Congress convention here to-day. He wants to go to the Senate in place of Senator Lodge. In his address of acceptance he declared that Speaker Cannon would be Speaker of the next House. That announcement was greeted with cheers.

You Become, In Effect, a Musical Artist When You Play the Pianola Piano

It is in the interpretation of music—not in the mere skill of their fingers—that the great pianists show genius.

To interpret music is to unfold its deepest enjoyment—for the listener as well as the performer.

Not to interpret it, is to show only its surface beauties—and to show even these only in part.

"In the art of interpretation America is already at the pinnacle." So says Dr. Max Lieberman, the music director of Berlin University—now in this country to lecture at Harvard.

It is because they enable even those untrained in music to give correct and beautiful interpretation that the Pianola and differ so widely from all other instruments of this type.

The Pianola Piano

When you play on the Pianola Piano, you secure the same kind and the same degree of enjoyment experienced by master pianists.

You are, in effect, a master pianist yourself. You play the music with meaning. You feel what the composer felt.

With no other player piano is real and full interpretation possible. For no other has the Metronome, the Thermostat, and the other exclusive devices which have gained for this instrument the endorsement of all musical artists.

The Metronome is the only device known which indicates—simply and clearly the actual interpretation of a musical selection. While it serves to show just how the music should be played—it, at the same time, allows full scope for the performance of one's own individual taste.

In choosing a player piano, bear in mind that the Pianola Piano is the only one that has the Metronome, the Thermostat and the other exclusive devices which really interpret music.

Pianolas $250 to $450. Pianola Pianos $550 and up. Moderate Monthly Payments Desired.

STORAGE WAREHOUSE BURNS.

Two Upper Floors Ablaze. Damage Done Is $25,000.

The two upper floors of the six story building at 301 West 125th street, occupied by the Riverdale Storage Warehouse Company, were burned out last night. The fire was discovered by persons in the street shortly before 9 o'clock, when the flames burst from the windows on the fifth floor.

A second alarm was sent in because the fire was so high up, and Chief Croker got there from Great Jones street in ten minutes.

The firemen kept the flames confined to the top two floors, although as a precaution families in adjoining tenement houses were advised to move.

After the fire had been in progress about an hour a fireman reported to Chief Croker that men of two companies were penned in on the fourth floor because a stairway had fallen from the weight of the loss. The men were found to be all right.

The damage was estimated at $25,000. Lumber and third avenue trolley cars were stopped for two hours.

NOT LEE SHUBERT'S BROTHER.

So-called Harry Shubert Has Been Missing His Name.

Lee Shubert sent out word yesterday that a man giving the name of Harry Shubert and passing himself off as a brother of Lee Shubert is not in any way related to the Shubert family. This man, Lee Shubert says, went a few days ago to a millinery store on Fifth avenue and ordered three hats at a price of $175, saying he was a brother of Lee Shubert and wanted the hats sent to the Broadway Theatre.

The firemen kept the flames confined to the top two floors, although as a precaution families in adjoining tenement houses were advised to move.

After the fire had been in progress about an hour a fireman reported to Chief Croker that men of two companies were penned in on the fourth floor because a stairway had fallen from the weight of the loss. The men were found to be all right.
